Amendment No. 4

AMEND House Bill No. 276 By deleting all of the language after the enacting clause and by substituting instead the following:

SECTION 1. Tennessee Code Annotated, Section 3-1-103, is amended by deleting the section in its entirety and by substituting instead the following:

Section 3-1-103.

(a)(1) All census descriptions, counties, tracts, blocks, census delineations, census district lines and other census designations are those established for or by the United States department of commerce, bureau of the census, for taking the 2000 federal decennial census in Tennessee as contained in the automated geographic data base, known as the TIGER (Topologically Integrated Geographic Encoding and Referencing) System. All voting districts (VTDs) are precincts aggregated from such census blocks as reported to the office of management information services for the general assembly by the office of local government, comptroller of the treasury pursuant to the provisions of title 2, chapter 3, part 1.

(2) As provided in subsection (c), each district is described county by county in alphabetical order and, if a county is split, by the portion of such split county. Split counties are described by voting districts (VTDs) and, if further divided, by census blocks.

(b) It is the intention of the general assembly that:

(1) Each district be represented by a single member;

(2) Districts must be substantially equal in population in accordance with constitutional requirements for "one (1) person one (1) vote";

(3) Geographic areas, boundaries and population counts used for redistricting shall be based on the 2000 federal decennial census;

(4) Districts must be contiguous and contiguity by water is sufficient, and, toward that end, if any voting district or other geographical entity designated as a portion of a district is found to be noncontiguous with the larger portion of such district, it shall be constituted a portion of the district smallest in population to which it is contiguous;

(5) No more than thirty (30) counties may be split to attach to other counties or parts of counties to form multi-county districts; and

(6) The redistricting plan will comply with the Voting Rights Act and the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the United States Constitution.

(c) Until the next enumeration of qualified voters and apportionment of representatives, the state house of representatives shall be composed as follows:

STATE OF TENNESSEE

LEGISLATIVE ACTS, CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS, AND JUDICIAL DECISIONS
RELATING TO VOTING RIGHTS AND RACE OR COLOR.

INTRODUCTION

This document is a compilation of state legislative acts, state constitutional provisions, and judicial decisions dealing with race and voting in Tennessee. It shows that the state has a significant history of past and continuing discrimination against African-Americans, including in the political process, and that voting is frequently racially polarized. It also shows that blacks in Tennessee are a community with a common history, experiences, and interests.

The Supreme Court has recognized that one of the essential purposes of redistricting is to "reconcile the competing claims of political, religious, ethnic, racial, occupational and socioeconomic groups." Davis v. Bandemer, 478 U.S. 109, 147 (1986) (O'Connor, J., concurring). While a state may not subordinate all of its traditional redistricting principles to race in drawing district lines or allow race to predominate in the redistricting process, see Miller v. Johnson, 515 U.S. 900, 919-20 (1995), it may take race into account in recognizing communities that have "some common thread of relevant interest." Id. at 920. As the Court said in a case from Texas, redistricting may be performed "with consciousness of race." Bush v. Vera, 517 U.S. 952, 958 (1996).

The Court has also held that a state may take race into account to avoid a violation of Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act, 42 U.S.C. 1973. A state may therefore "create a majority-minority district without awaiting judicial findings" if it has a strong basis in evidence for avoiding a Voting Rights Act violation. Bush v. Vera, 517 U.S. at 994. The Court has acknowledged that it would be "irresponsible" for a state to disregard the racial fairness provisions of the Act. Id. at 991 (O'Connor, J., concurring).

Section 2 provides that a voting practice, including a redistricting plan, is unlawful if it "results" in discrimination, i.e., if, based on the totality of circumstances, it provides minorities with "less opportunity than other members of the electorate to participate in the political process and to elect representatives of their choice." 42 U.S.C. 1973 (b). Factors (known as the Gingles factors) identified by Congress and the Supreme Court as proving minority vote dilution under Section 2 include a significant history of past and continuing discrimination against minorities, and that voting is racially polarized. See Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30, 36-7 (1986).

The existence of various Gingles factors in Tennessee, as evidenced by the following compilation, strongly indicates that the state should take race into account in redistricting to avoid a violation of Section 2. Indeed, the Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit struck down the state's 1994 redistricting plan for the house after finding, among other things, "overwhelming evidence of polarization and white bloc-voting," and that because of past and continuing discrimination in education, employment, and health, "blacks are not able to equally participate in the political process." RWTAAAC v. Sundquist, 209 F.3d 835, 462, 459 (6th Cir. 2000).

To avoid a repeat of the lengthy, and costly, litigation that followed the adoption of its 1994 plan, the state should take race into account in redistricting after the 2000 census to avoid another violation of the Voting Rights Act. It should also take race into account simply to recognize that blacks, like other groups and communities in the state, have common experiences and interests.

Haywood County, 544 F. Supp. At 1131, the court found that a change from district to at-large elections for the Haywood County Board of Highway Commissioners was "a result of the purposeful intention to dilute black voting strength in Haywood County, Tennessee," id. at 461; (p) the adoption of a new majority vote requirement by the City of Bolivar in response to the success of two black candidates for mayor in 1981 "indicate to the court that official discrimination against blacks in voting is not entirely a thing of the past in west Tennessee," id. at 461; (q) "[P]ast discrimination, especially that which took place during the civil rights movement, affects present-day politics. It has had a psychological effect upon black citizens who lived through it, creating in some a lingering sense of disillusionment, frustration, and mistrust," id. at 461; (r) official discrimination in the 1950s and 60s "also means that today there are few entrenched and powerful black elected officials from that era. There is no tradition of black electoral success," id. at 461; (s) "[I]n west Tennessee there is a history of official discrimination against blacks in voting which has present-day effects," id. at 461; (t) "In West Tennessee, black citizens are more likely than white citizens to live in poverty, to be unemployed, and to live in substandard housing" id. at 461; (u) "[b]lack citizens are less likely to have completed high school, to own their own homes, to have access to a car, or to have telephones in their homes," id. at 461; (v) "white supporters of black candidates are often unwilling to display bumper-stickers or yard signs or to otherwise publicly announce their support," id. at 461; (w) "the plaintiffs demonstrated a history of official discrimination in voting; racial polarization in voting; [and] effects of discrimination in such areas as education, employment, and health; and that black candidates had not achieved sufficient electoral success," id. at 1100; (x) taking into account the "totality of the circumstances...black voters in west Tennessee [have] less opportunity than other members of the electorate to participate in the political process and to elect representatives of their choice," id. at 466.

42. RWTAAAC v. Sundquist, 29 F. Supp. 2d 448 (W. D. Tenn. 1998) aff'd, 209 F.3d 835 (6th Cir. 2000) (invalidating house redistricting in Rural West Tennessee under Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act and finding: (a) "overwhelming evidence of polarization and white bloc-voting," 29 F. Supp. At 462; (b) "not one African-American was elected to the state legislature from the six-county area," id. at 458; (c) because of past and continuing discrimination in education, employment, and health, "blacks are not able to equally participate in the political process," id. at 459; and (d) the house plan "unlawfully fragments and thereby dilutes black voting strength." Id. at 462.

Endnote:

After a remand from the Supreme Court for further consideration in light of Johnson v. De Grandy, 512 U.S. 997 (1994), see McWherter v. RWTAAAC, 512 U.S. 1248 (1994), and RWTAAAC v. McWherter, 512 U.S. 2776 (1994), the three-judge court held that the senate redistricting plan was not in violation of Section 2. RWTAAAC v. McWherter, 877 F.Supp. 1096 (W.D. Tenn. 1995) (RWTAAAC II), aff'd RWTAAAC v. Sundquist, 516 U.S. 801 (1995). In RWTAAAC I, however, the court reaffirmed its factual findings in RWTAAAC I as being "correct," id. at 1099, held that as a factual matter blacks did not have the equal opportunity to elect candidates of their choice under the senate plan, id. at 1107, but that the existence of a combination of majority black and minority influence districts mitigated any Section 2 violation. The court cautioned that influence districts were not a substitute for majority minority districts. Id. at 1107 n.11 ("[w]e do not imply that the legislature could adopt a plan under current circumstances with no majority-minority districts at all if it created a sufficient number of influence districts").
